Ask these questions:

1. What do you like most about working here?
2. How would you describe the company culture?
3. Share with me the qualities of an ideal applicant?

4. What's the biggest challenge the company will be experiencing this upcoming year and how will, this job help overcome it?

5. What are opportunities at the company for personal & professional development?

6. Tell me about the plan for a new hire in this role - what does the 30, 60, 90 day look like?

Bonus: What are the next steps?

Bonus Dont's

Don't ask about hours or salary

Don't ask anything too personal

Save these questions for HR:

Vacation, Sick Time, Benefits, 401k ect...

Disclaimer: There are no “right” questions to ask, that will guarantee you interview success.

Prepare for interviews, and thoroughly research the company.

But remember: the interview is a two-way conversation, and the company should be as much of a candidate in your eyes, as you are in its eyes.
